

BEST SUSHI: UCHI

For many of us Austinites, Uchi seems to be a magical destination visible only by the outside, a lavishly upscale sushi establishment where the rich and famous eat. And this is partly true: The rich and famous do eat here, like Kate Hudson and Lance Armstrong, but that doesn't mean you have to be a celebrity. Tyson Cole's artisanal sushi dishes range from the moderately expensive ($30 for five sashimi pieces of uni – i.e., sea urchin) to the downright reasonable ($6 for a California roll). Who says you can't go dining with the stars?

uchiaustin.com

2nd Place: Musashino, musashinosushi.com

3rd Place: Kenichi, kenichiaustin.com

Writer: Tolly Moseley Photographer: Cory Ryan